

Editors' Picks: 11 Things to See in New York This Week

What to see this week.

Sarah Cascone, May 15, 2017

artnet[®]news

Cameron Welch, for Eurydice. Photo courtesy Yours Mine and Ours Gallery.

“Cameron Welch: Hide and Seek” at yours mine & ours

“Hide and Seek,” Cameron Welch’s first show with yours mine & ours, presents a series of new large-scale works in which Welch examines his own identity on canvas and asks us to put the pieces together. His mixed-media works draw on nostalgia, repeating images from 20th-century advertising and media to critique and question stereotypes, associations, issues of class, gender, and race. Continuing a tradition of found and collaged objects and images, referencing Dada, Surrealism, and Arte Povera, Welch creates a messy, complicated reflection of society.

Location: yours mine & ours Gallery, 54 Eldridge Street

Price: Free

Time: Opening reception, 6 p.m.–8 p.m.; Wednesday–Sunday, 12 p.m.–6 p.m.

—Sarbani Ghosh