

- The former directors of three Lower East Side galleries have united to establish Yours Mine & Ours, a new space that will open at 54 Eldridge Street in September. The new gallery will be co-directed by Patton Hindle, currently a director at Artspace and former director of Dodge Gallery; Courtney Childress, former director of both Bushwick's Life on Mars and On Stellar Rays; and RJ Supa, who was co-owner and director of Louis B. James before it closed its doors last Sunday after five years.